In The News: Ancient city off India revealed.

The work of the Tsunami that destroyed so much on Dec 26, 2004 is still bringing results. This is an unexpected discovery for Archeologists. Off the shores of the Indian Ocean at Mahabalipuram, India, the new site of the United Nations world heritage site, stands three rocky structures, an ancient artifact that is believed to been part of the seventh-century port city.

The early British travel writers had written about this area of Mahabalipuram as being the home of seven pagodas, of which six had been submerged by the sea.

The rocky structures "include a bas-relief with elaborate carvings of animals that appears to be part of a temple wall or a portion of a seventh-century port city, T. Satyamurthy, a senior archeologist with the Indian government, told the Associated Press."

The rocky structures, one of two-meters, shows a carved head of either an elephant or a horse in flight. Another shows a lion in a reclining position.

The Pallava period in the seventh and eighth centuries used Lions, Elephants and peacocks to decorate walls and temples.

The rocky structures have generated much excitement and hopeful expectations about what may be revealed next. Both Archeologists and the Indian Navy are getting ready to begin underwater shoreline excavations of the area. (Reference: www.cbc.ca/story/india-tsunami)

In the January issue of Astrology Edmonton, Inge Lohse wrote an article on the Tsunami Quake. She stated that Neptune in the 1st and Uranus in the 2nd houses of the event chart both in each others signs showed that no one saw it coming and the sudden and unexpected force. Now that the waters have receded, we have something else unexpected and with Uranus in Pisces in the 2nd it shows something of great spiritual value. This was uncovered Dec 30, 2004. If we progress the Tsunami Quake chart (pg 5 of January issue) by moving the MC a degree for a day, in 4 days the MC would have reached 00 degrees of Scorpio, conjunct the South Node of the chart. This is something from the past (SN) brought out to the world (MC) of deep meaning, (Scorpio) With Pluto in Sagittarius on the world radar we have many new/old philosophical truths coming to the surface to be examined.

Kabbalistic Astrology

Workshop Review

by Betty

Why are we here? The question has so many answers, if only we would listen!

Eva presented the oldest form of Astrology practiced by the Ancients and still in practice today. We practitioners of the Western version of Astrology look mostly at our material lives, with maybe a fore-thought to our Soul development. We of course are aware that we have a Soul but maybe we are not fully aware of the responsibilities that entails.

Kabbalistic Astrology views the development of the Soul from the earthly incarnations and works from the point of what is needed to fully become conscious of our Souls responsibilities. We bring in what we have previously experienced, whether good or not so good, and we build from that point on to go forward in our quest to return to the “one”. The Moon is the point of most importance in Kabbalah Astrology, and each Lunar month has a purpose to be fulfilled by the Soul. The depth of the subject requires many workshops to understand, let alone practice.

Eva gave us a glimpse of the magnitude of the subject and her extensive knowledge.

We hope to hear more in the future. Fascinating material. Thank you Eva.

*There is certainly much to see and read out there in Astrology World!
Thank you Roger for your research.*

Raised by his mother in difficult circumstances, with no formal education beyond grade school, this man became known as the “Father of modern Astrology”. Searching for a place in the World, this British gentleman found the one thing that he enjoyed and earned him a living was being a traveling Salesman. His travels led him to different areas and encompassed many different people. He was a great observer of character and this led him to the study of Astrology. His interest was not to continue the normal usage of that time, prediction, he became known for his introduction of personal analysis and is responsible for articulating the popular astrological precept that “ character is destiny”.

He joined the Theosophical Society and met F.W. Lacey (Aphorel) and Walter Gorn Old (Sepharial). He and Lacey joined forces and November 12, 1889 launched the Astrologer’s Magazine, later renamed Modern Astrology. They had a practice that for every new subscriber they would give a free horoscope. They gave away more than 4000 written horoscopes over a 4 year period. Lacey was bought out in 1894 to pursue other interest. As the sole proprietor of the magazine, it was not until 1898 that he was able to leave his sales job and do his life path of Astrology. He has written a series of Astrology books that were so popular that they have been repeatedly reprinted, and are still in print a century later.

His books had rejuvenated the interest in Astrology and have moved the practice to a more personal level. People were interested in themselves and how to help themselves. This is what he gave them and is why he became the success in his time, that he did. His success did not come without challenges of his time. He was twice prosecuted legally for “fortune-telling.” The first case was May 14, 1914 and he was acquitted on a technicality. He founded the London Astrological Lodge of the Theosophical Society in 1915, and it is still going strong today, but without the Theosophical Society. His second court case was July 1917 and he was fined 25 pounds sterling, about $3000.00 today’s value. He passed on August 30, 1917 leaving behind his beloved wife Bessie who published his autobiography in 1919.

The Edmonton and Ottawa March 20, 2005 Ingress

by Helga

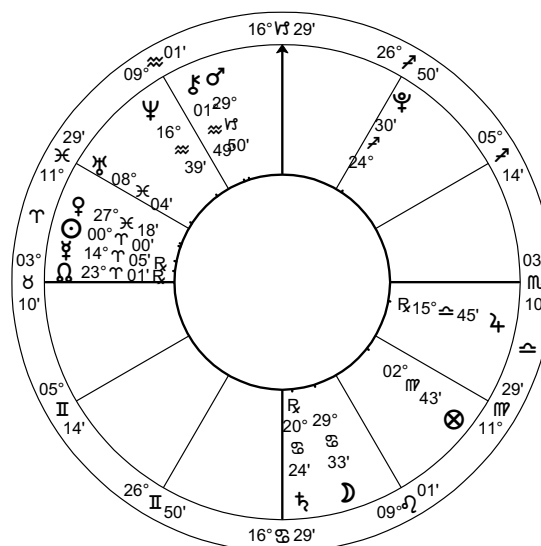

Ingress Edmonton March 2005

The most outstanding feature in this chart is the opposition between Mars and Moon, both in 29 degrees. Mars is in the 12th and Moon in the 6th, this could shed some light on the problem with the Police. However a lot of things will still go on behind the scene. With 5 planets in the first house the people will demand to know the truth. Venus in the first is sextile Mars and trine Moon, an opportunity. Venus rules the media. However, Venus is also square Pluto in the 10th, so the authorities will have to come clean. This may also concern the Provincial Government. Pluto is very powerful in the 10th house. The critical Sun is ruler of the 7th our neighbors so there could be some tension there. It may be caused by the preferential treatment given to the eastern provinces. Fortuna in the 4th may finally open the borders for cattle or oil prices may rise again. Neptune conjunct the Ascendant, the people still won't see the entire picture. There is also a grand square in this chart, namely Moon 29 deg. Cancer, Mars 29 deg. Capricorn squared by the Moon's Nodes in Aries and Libra. The Moon rules the 6th house and there could be a problem with health services. 29 degrees is the end of the rope. Then we also have a grand trine between Neptune, Jupiter and Fortuna. Jupiter rules the Government and Neptune rules the intercepted first house. Beats me what the Government is cooking up again. Pluto in the same degree as the Nodes may force the government to reduce taxes. We also have an opposition between Jupiter and Mercury (1st and 7th) rulers of 4th and 10th confrontations between the parties perhaps?

This chart has 2 planets and 2 house cusps in 29 degrees, Mars, Moon, 3rd and 9th houses. What do you make of that? Also Saturn, the ruler of the Government, is in the 4th. Will there be an election and the present government falls? I think that both parties are in the dog-house with the ruler of the 4th Moon also in 29 degrees. 3 Planets including the critical Sun and the North Node of the Moon are all in the 12th house of secrets. Neptune and Uranus in the 11th of the rules made by the Government. There shall be great confusion and perhaps unexpected developments? Mars in the 10th clearly shows that the Government is at their wit's end. No wonder with all the secrecy going on behind the scene. The media is also at the end of their rope with 29 degrees on the 3rd house and so is the 9th of foreign affairs. Pluto in the 8th may have to spend on the armed forces with Jupiter ruler of 8th in the 6th. Fortuna in the 5th ruled by Mercury in the 12th, a childcare program will be cooked up behind the scenes without consultation. The 5th is ruled by the Sun (critical). There is a trine between Jupiter ruler of 8th and 9th and Neptune, ruler of 12th. The people are ruled by Venus in the 12th and will be left completely in the dark. Mercury ruling the 2nd, 3rd and 6th is located in the 12th this is another indication of the hidden aspects of this Ingress chart. I don't think that the Government has the surplus they say they have. (In the U.S. chart Pluto is in the 9th.)

Answer to Famous Astrologer on page 4, Alan Leo!

Pisces

written by Inge Lohse

A mutable water sign of negative polarity ruled by Neptune. Key Phrase 'I Believe'

Pisces is represented by two attached fishes, one swimming upstream and the other downstream, confirming the deep undercurrents and the intense duality of emotions in people born under this sign. The Piscean temperament varies from being strongly optimistic to being acutely pessimistic. Their awareness of the subtle undercurrents of human interactions gives them an air of aloofness. Pisceans are compelled to maintain their individuality, and they must follow that quiet, whispering, voice from within.

Forecast 2005 to 2006

Powerful Pluto, in the sign of Sagittarius is still squaring your Sun. (and will do so until the year 2008) Use the positive side of this aspect to stay focused.

Neptune, your ruler, has been in the sign of Aquarius for a few years now, and will stay until the year 2012. You are learning to detach yourself from your emotional physic and are questioning your long held beliefs, and whatever survives keen Aquarian scrutiny, will be worth keeping.

Lucky You!! Uranus has moved in!! What - you didn't get that memo? Well, he HAS, complete with his bag of tricks. December 2003 he took up permanent residence in your sign of Pisces for the next 7 years. Uranus brings inspiration and excitement, along with general chaos. You'll have to go to the very depths of your soul to deal with who you are, what you have become, and where you want to be 7 years from now. Uranus will enlighten your mind and energize your will to be independent.

Constructive Saturn sets parameters and common sense limitations. Sometimes referred to as the 'COSMIC 2x4', Saturn energy focuses on your practical side. In July, 2005 Saturn will complete its' transit through the sign of Cancer and move into the sign of Leo for about 2-1/2 years. For the past couple of years you have learned to deal with logical consequences to your emotions and actions. This is about to change, you'll find for the next couple of years, you will constantly need to adjust your emotional reaction to your physical actions. Your ego and your instincts are about to collide. Leo needs to be front and centre. Pisces is comfortable being part of the crowd. Leo is an impulsive fire sign and Pisces is an emotional water sign. Things can really get complicated if you don't know how to turn off the heat, when the water starts to boil.

Optimistic Jupiter is in the sign of Libra this year. Libra is about harmonious relationships. Libra thinks, Pisces feels. Libra likes to keep things on an even keel, never straying too far from the centre line. Pisces needs to feel the full range of emotions, highs and lows. Jupiter is about vision, growth, expansion and attaining your objectives. During this year you will learn the fine art of walking the line, keeping things balanced and in perspective, making sure your attitudes, your idealism, and your views are within the realm of reality.
